

PRIMO WATER CORPORATION
CORPORATE GOVERNANCE GUIDELINES

INTRODUCTION

The Board of Directors of Primo Water Corporation (the “Corporation”) is committed to fulfilling its statutory mandate to supervise the management of the business and affairs of the Corporation with the highest standards of ethical conduct and in the best interests of the Corporation. The Board of Directors, acting on the recommendation of its ESG and Nominating Committee, has adopted these corporate governance guidelines to promote the effective functioning of the Board of Directors and its committees, to promote the interests of shareowners, and to establish a common set of expectations as to how the Board of Directors, its various committees, individual directors and management should perform their functions. These guidelines are intended to provide a flexible framework within which the Board of Directors may carry out these functions.

GUIDELINES

Board Responsibilities

The business and affairs of the Corporation are managed by or under the supervision of the Board of Directors in accordance with all applicable laws and regulatory requirements. The responsibility of the Board of Directors is to provide direction and oversight.

In performing their duties, the primary responsibility of the directors is to exercise their business judgment in what they reasonably believe to be the best interests of the Corporation and to perform their duties of care and loyalty. In discharging that obligation, directors should be entitled to rely on the honesty and the integrity of the Corporation’s senior executives and outside advisors and auditors that have been retained by the Board of Directors, its committees or management, as the case may be, to the fullest extent permitted by law. The directors also should be entitled to reasonable directors’ and officers’ liability insurance purchased by the Corporation on their behalf, the benefits of indemnification to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, and exculpation as provided by applicable law. Each member of the Board of Directors has the power to hire independent legal, financial or other advisors as he or she may deem necessary or appropriate to fulfill his or her duties as a director, without consulting or obtaining the approval of any officer of the Corporation in advance, so long as the lead independent director or independent chairman, as the case may be, is notified in each instance.

In particular, the Board of Directors assumes responsibility for the matters set out in its mandate, a copy of which is attached hereto as Schedule “A”.

Board Size

It is the current view of the Board of Directors that the Board of Directors should consist of no less than 9 and no more than 15 members to facilitate its effective functioning. The Board of Directors will annually assess, after consideration of any advice or input of the ESG and Nominating Committee, the appropriate number of directors.

Chairman of the Board and Lead Independent Director

The Board of Directors believes that if the role of Chairman is filled by a director who is not independent, there should be a “lead independent director” appointed by the Board of Directors from its independent members. If a lead independent director is appointed by the Board of Directors and the role of Chairman is filled by a director who is also independent, the lead independent director shall act in a supportive capacity to the Chairman and shall act as Chairman in the event the Chairman is unavailable. The Board of Directors will from time to time evaluate its leadership structure to determine the most appropriate leadership arrangements for the Corporation.

Selection of Directors

The ESG and Nominating Committee will be responsible for identifying and proposing to the Board of Directors individuals qualified to become members of the Board of Directors, and, in so doing, shall adhere to the following criteria:

- Each director should be an individual of the highest character and integrity;
- Each director should have sufficient experience to enable the director to make a meaningful contribution to the Board of Directors and to the Corporation;
- Each director should have sufficient time available to devote to the affairs of the Corporation in order to carry out the responsibilities of a director; and
- The Board of Directors shall be comprised of a majority of independent directors, and each director who is nominated as an independent director shall meet all of the criteria for independent directors established by the New York Stock Exchange, the Toronto Stock Exchange and applicable U.S. and Canadian securities laws.

In addition, the ESG and Nominating Committee will consider applicable laws, rules and regulations pertaining to a director’s residence and qualification requirements, the diversity of the Board of Directors as a whole, and any agreements to which the Corporation is a party relating to a third party’s right to have nominated for election as a director a person or persons of such third party’s choice.

The ESG and Nominating Committee will be responsible for initially assessing whether a candidate would be independent and advising the Board of Directors of that assessment, including whether the candidate meets any heightened requirements for committee service established by applicable laws, any stock exchange on which the Corporation is listed or by any policy of the Corporation. The ESG and Nominating Committee will also be responsible for assessing from time to time, and shall conduct inquiries in that regard on no less than an annual basis, the independence of each member of the Board of Directors, and shall make recommendations to the Board of Directors in respect of the constitution of the Board of Directors and its committees resulting therefrom.

In its evaluation of a potential member of the Board of Directors, the ESG and Nominating Committee will give consideration to (i) what skills and competencies the Board of Directors should possess, (ii) what skills and competencies each director currently possesses, (iii) what skills and competencies the potential nominee will bring and (iv) the number of boards of directors on which the potential nominee sits. This process is designed to ensure that the Board of Directors includes members with diverse backgrounds, skills and experience, including appropriate financial and other expertise relevant to the Corporation's business, and with sufficient time available to devote to the affairs of the Corporation. The Board of Directors, taking into consideration the recommendations of the ESG and Nominating Committee, will be responsible for selecting the nominees for election to the Board of Directors, for appointing directors to fill vacancies, and determining whether a nominee or appointee is independent.

Directors are elected, on an individual basis and in accordance with the Corporation's Majority Voting and Director Resignation Policy, for a term of one year. The Board of Directors has not established a limit on the number of terms that a director may serve. No director may stand for election or re-election to the Board of Directors after the director has reached the age of 75. A director that turns 75 during his or her term, however, may serve out the remainder of that term.

In order to ensure that directors have sufficient time to dedicate to their responsibilities to the Corporation, a director must advise the Chair of the ESG and Nominating Committee, with a copy to the Corporation's Chairman, Chief Executive Officer and Chief Legal Officer, prior to accepting an invitation to serve on the board of directors of another publicly traded company. The ESG and Nominating Committee, with input from the Corporation's Chairman, Chief Executive Officer and Chief Legal Officer, will review the following factors in determining whether to approve the suitability of the proposed directorship prior to acceptance of the position:

- The time requirement and workload of the proposed directorship, including the precise role and any associated committee or other associated obligations.
- Any existing or potential conflicts of interest.
- Any legal or regulatory considerations associated with the proposed directorship.
- If the director in question intends to resign from any other public company board, and if so, the timing of such resignation and whether this will be publicly disclosed at the time of taking up the proposed directorship.
- The limit on the number of directorships set forth herein.
- Any other factors that may compromise the director's ability to fully perform his or her duties to the Corporation.

No director may serve on the board of directors of more than five publicly traded companies, or, in the case of a director who serves as a CEO or Executive Chair of a publicly traded operating company, two publicly traded companies, in each case, inclusive of the Board of Directors of the Corporation. A director who serves as an interim or temporary CEO or Executive Chair of a publicly traded operating company would not be covered by the more restrictive CEO or Executive Chair policy. The Corporation's Audit Committee Charter further prohibits directors serving on the Audit Committee from simultaneously serving on the audit committees of more than two other publicly traded companies unless the Board of Directors of the Corporation determines that exceeding that limit would not impair such director's ability to effectively serve on the Audit Committee, which determination must be disclosed in the Corporation's annual proxy circular.

The Chairman of the ESG and Nominating Committee will communicate the ESG and Nominating Committee's decision to the director prior to his or her acceptance of the position.

Individual directors whose principal employment responsibilities change (except for internal promotions within their organization) should volunteer to resign from the Board of Directors. While directors who retire or whose principal employment responsibilities change should not necessarily leave the Board of Directors, the Board of Directors should review the continuation of their service as directors. The Board of Directors, with the assistance of its ESG and Nominating Committee, should have an opportunity to review the continued appropriateness of the director's Board membership given his or her changed circumstances.

To retire or resign from the Board of Directors or refuse to stand for re-election, a Board member must deliver written notice to the Chair of the ESG and Nominating Committee with a copy to the Corporation's Chief Legal Officer. Such written notice shall specify the date of such retirement, resignation, or refusal to stand for re-election.

Committee Membership

Directors are expected to sit on Board committees. Each of the Audit Committee, the Human Resources and Compensation Committee and the ESG and Nominating Committee will be composed of no fewer than three members, each of whom will satisfy the membership criteria set out in the relevant committee charter and in accordance with the Corporation's by-laws and applicable laws and regulations. Members and chairs of committees will be appointed by the Board of Directors upon the recommendation of the ESG and Nominating Committee. A director may serve on more than one committee and committee membership may be rotated periodically as necessary or advisable. The Board of Directors will review the composition of each committee on an annual basis, or more frequently as it deems necessary.

Evaluating Board and Committee Performance

The Board of Directors and each committee will conduct an annual self-evaluation as provided in each committee's respective charter. The independent directors will periodically review with the Chief Executive Officer the effectiveness of Board of Directors meetings and the communications between the Board of Directors and the Chief Executive Officer.

Board and Committee Meetings

The Board of Directors and each committee should meet as provided in its respective charter and in accordance with the Corporation's by-laws.

An agenda for each meeting of the Board of Directors and each committee meeting will be provided to each director and each member of the relevant committee, respectively. Any director or member of a committee may suggest the inclusion of subjects on the agenda of meetings of the Board of Directors or a committee, respectively.

Each director and each member of a committee is free to raise, at any meeting of the Board of Directors or a committee, subjects that are not on the agenda for that meeting.

Materials provided to the directors for meetings of the Board of Directors and committee meetings should provide the information needed, and should be distributed sufficiently in advance, for the directors and members of the committee, respectively, to engage in informed discussion and make an informed judgment.

To ensure free and open discussion and communication among directors, the non-management directors will meet in executive session (with no members of management present, including the Chief Executive Officer) after every regularly scheduled meeting of the Board of Directors and otherwise as those directors determine. The independent directors will meet in executive session (with no other directors present) regularly, and otherwise as those directors determine. The lead independent director or independent chairman of the Board of Directors, as the case may be, will preside at these executive sessions.

Unless the Chair of a committee otherwise determines, the agenda, materials and minutes for each committee meeting will be available on request to all directors, and all directors will be free to attend any committee meeting. At any time in a meeting of a committee, directors that are not members may be asked to leave the meeting to ensure free and open discussion and communication among members of the committee. Directors who are not members of a committee will not be compensated for attending meetings of that committee.

Committee Chair Responsibilities

The Chair of each committee shall be responsible for the overall leadership of the committee, including:

- setting an agenda for all meetings of the committee based on consultation with members of the committee, the Board of Directors and management, as appropriate;
- chairing committee meetings and fostering dialogue among members of the committee;
- adopting procedures so that the committee can conduct business and function effectively;
- making arrangements for management, outside advisors and other individuals to attend meetings, as appropriate, to assist the committee to carry out its work;
- ensuring that members of the committee are familiar with their duties and obligations under the charters of the committees;
- promoting honest and ethical decision-making in all aspects of the committee's business;
- ensuring that decisions and actions taken at committee meetings are reported to the Board of Directors; and
- performing any other duties as directed by the Board of Directors.

Director Compensation

The form and amount of non-employee director compensation will be determined by the Board of Directors upon the recommendation of the Human Resources and Compensation Committee from time to time. In discharging this duty, the Human Resources and Compensation Committee shall endeavor to adhere to the following principles: compensation should fairly pay non-employee directors for work required in a company of the Corporation's size and scope; compensation should align such directors' interests with the long-term interests of the Corporation's shareowners; and the structure of non-employee director compensation should be simple, transparent and easy for shareowners to understand.

Expectations of Directors

The Board of Directors has developed the following specific expectations of directors to promote the discharge by the directors of their responsibilities and to promote the efficient conduct of the Board of Directors.

Commitment and Attendance. All directors should strive to attend all meetings of the Board of Directors and the committees of which they are members. Attendance by telephone or video conference may be used when necessary to facilitate a director's attendance.

Participation in Meetings. Each director should be sufficiently familiar with the business of the Corporation, including its financial statements and capital structure, and the risks and the competition it faces, to ensure active and effective participation in the deliberations of the Board of Directors and of each committee on which he or she serves. Each director should review meeting materials in advance of the meeting.

Loyalty and Ethics. In their roles as directors, all directors owe a duty of loyalty to the Corporation. This duty of loyalty mandates that the best interests of the Corporation take precedence over any other interest of a director. Directors should conduct themselves in accordance with the Corporation's Code of Business Conduct and Ethics and other applicable policies and procedures.

Contact with Management. All directors should be free to contact the Chief Executive Officer and other members of the Corporation's Management Committee at any time to discuss any aspect of the Corporation's business. The Board of Directors expects that there will be frequent opportunities for directors to meet with the Chief Executive Officer and other members of management in meetings of the Board of Directors and committees, or in other formal or informal settings.

Succession Planning. The Board of Directors should make an annual review of management succession planning. The entire Board of Directors will work with the Human Resources and Compensation Committee to nominate and evaluate potential successors to the Chief Executive Officer. The Chief Executive Officer should at all times make available his or her recommendations and evaluations of potential successors, along with a review of any development plans recommended for such individuals.

Confidentiality. The proceedings and deliberations of the Board of Directors and its committees are confidential. Except as otherwise required by applicable law, each director will maintain the confidentiality of information received in connection with his or her service as a director.

Share Ownership. Directors are expected to maintain the level of share ownership in the Corporation prescribed by the Board of Directors from time to time.

Orientation and Continuing Education

Management, working with the ESG and Nominating Committee, will provide an orientation and education program for new directors to familiarize them with the Corporation and its business, including its strategic plans, its significant financial, accounting and risk management issues, its policies and its executive officers. All new directors will participate in this program, which should be completed within four months of a director first joining the Board of Directors. In addition, management will schedule periodic presentations for the Board of Directors to ensure the Board is aware of major business trends and industry and corporate governance practices.

Review of Related Party Transactions

The ESG and Nominating Committee shall review transactions between the Corporation and any related party, regardless of whether the transactions are reportable pursuant to Item 404 of Regulation S-K under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. After considering advice from the ESG and Nominating Committee, the Board of Directors shall review, and, if appropriate, approve or ratify, such related party transactions. For purposes of these guidelines, a “related party transaction” is any transaction in which the Corporation was or is to be a participant and in which any related party has a direct or indirect material interest, other than transactions that (i) are available to all employees generally, (ii) involve compensation of executive officers or directors duly authorized by the appropriate Board committee, or (iii) involve reimbursement of expenses in accordance with the Corporation’s established policy.

For purposes of these guidelines, a “related party” is any person who is, or at any time since the beginning of the Corporation’s last fiscal year was, an executive officer or director (including in each case nominees for director), any shareowner owning in excess of five percent of the Corporation’s common shares, or an immediate family member of an executive officer, director, nominee for director, or five percent shareowner.

For purposes of these guidelines, an “immediate family member” includes a person’s spouse, parents, stepparents, children, stepchildren, siblings, mothers- and fathers-in-law, sons- and daughters-in-law, brothers- and sisters-in-law, and anyone (other than employees) who shares such person’s home.

Disclosure

These guidelines shall be made available on the Corporation’s website.
